Great sound without the whistling

Why compromise on sound? Interton's innovative technologies and advanced features bring your life back to life, tailoring sound to your exact needs.

Interton's SoundScape technology lets you immerse yourself in the best available 360° listening experience. It mimics the organic sound processing of the human ear to produce sounds that are as rich, clear and natural as they can be. That means you hear everything that's going on around you, regardless of where the sound comes from. And when you need it to, it automatically lets you focus on speech, even in noisy surroundings. Hear what friends are saying at the other end of the table, children playing behind you, or even traffic zooming by. Forget about disturbing whistling sounds when you put things close to your ears or hug your loved ones. Our state-of-the-art Feedback Management technology targets and removes annoying whistling sounds.

Nano coating

Maximum protection, minimum worry

Whether you're at the gym, out in the rain or digging the garden, you'll never have to worry about harming your hearing devices. They are nano coated. One thousand times thinner than a human hair, nano coating is a protective layer that shields every part of the hearing device. When humidity or sweat come into contact with it, they form beads and just roll right off. As moisture can't stick to your hearing devices they can't corrode, meaning they'll have a longer life and are easier to clean, looking great throughout their lifetime.
